

MOVING FURNITURE TO WESTERN HIGH

All Pupils Will Attend Class in Georgetown School at Opening Monday.

Work of moving Western High School furniture out of the Franklin School to the restored Western building was completed today, and when school opens Monday, all Western pupils will report to their own school which they have not occupied since the fire that partly destroyed it nearly two years ago.

The rooms left vacant in the Franklin building by the removal of the Western classes will be used for grade schools, to care for the overflow from the Thompson School.

Announcement has been made by Superintendent Thurston regarding the time of reporting at various schools. Examinations for entry to the high schools, which are held for out-of-town pupils, will be conducted Monday at 9 o'clock at the Franklin. Applicants for this examination were requested to file their names today or tomorrow at the Franklin.

All pupils entering the Washington grade schools for the first time must apply to the schools nearest their homes. At that time vaccination certificates must be presented.

Public night schools will not open until October 4.

Apple Growers Urged To Form Organizations

Formation of effective co-operative organizations of apple growers is urged by the Department of Agriculture in a report on investigations of the apple market. Whereas observations in the Chicago market showed that 25 per cent of the arrivals in carload lots and 10 per cent of the barreled shipments were of such poor quality that the price would not have paid the freight charges, the department investigators found that where growers' associations handle the output and secure uniformity in pack and advantageous distribution of the crop, and also box apples instead of packing them in barrels, the crop can be disposed of profitably. The effect of the war has been found less disastrous on the apple industry than was feared, the report says, because Scandinavian markets and extensions of the South American trade have made up for the loss of Germany's purchases.

Mrs. Isabel W. Ball to Tell History of Flag

Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball will tell "The Story of the Flag" at a meeting of Court District of Columbia, No. 212, of the National Order of Isabella, in Knights of Columbus Hall, 606 E street northwest, tonight. Mrs. Ball's lecture, which is accompanied by replicas of all flags flown by the colonies and the United States, sketches the history of the American emblem from the time Columbus landed down to the present time. Mrs. Ball has been collecting these replicas for forty years. The exhibit of flags and the lecture are most interesting and instructive.

Mid-City Citizens to Plan for Celebration

A general committee of the Mid-City Citizens' Association having in charge the plans for the celebration of the completion of the Seventh street paving will be held tonight at 109 Seventh street, the purpose being to outline definite features for the carnival and street parade held on Sept. 22. The executive committee of the association urged the District Commissioners today to expedite the work on the paving, as it was feared that the construction might not be complete by the date set for the celebration. Assurances were given that the work would be rushed with all possible speed.

Uncle Sam Has Booklet Of Hunting Directions

"Game Laws for 1915" is the title of a booklet of interest to hunters which has just been issued by the Department of Agriculture. The booklet is a summary of the provisions relating to seasons, export, sale, limits, and licenses. It embraces reviews on legislation passed in 1915; the regulations adopted for the protection of migratory birds, advice for the disposition of game raised in captivity, and other information valuable to the hunter.

Boosters Return Well Satisfied With Tour

Merchants Royally Greeted in Cities of Maryland,
Virginia, and West Virginia, Opening Fertile Field for Trade With Washington.

Happy in a realization that through their efforts a fertile field has been conditioned for the production of trade for the business establishments of their home city, the boosters party organized by the Retail Merchants' Association has returned to Washington from a 20-mile tour of towns in western Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Shortly after 9 o'clock last night, the last of the twenty-odd machines that took part in the trip, running on schedule time, crossed the Chain bridge. There a procession was formed and, with the band that had been faithfully piping tunes in each town at its head, proceeded through the business sections of the city along Pennsylvania avenue to Peace Monument and back to Eleventh street and the Avenue, the point from which the start was made Monday morning.

Though a little weary from their long journey, the boosters still maintained the cordial spirit in which they had approached and mingled with the townspeople of the States through which they had passed.

Bad Roads At Finish.
Bad roads on the last leg of the trip served to mar in measure the pleasure of the outing, but they were not permitted to interfere in any manner with the business upon which the merchants were bent, and, despite the roughness of the Virginia thoroughfares, every town and village placed upon the original route was visited.

From Berryville to within a few miles of Washington the state of the roads converted the tour into an endurance test for the automobiles, and every car owner named at the conclusion of the trip to congratulate G. C. Stevens for the showing made by the Little Giant truck which he furnished to transport the band. Carrying more than 2,500 pounds dead weight this truck made the entire trip and concluded it on schedule time, having taken, meanwhile, hills and grades that all but balked the passenger cars.

Only one accident occurred in covering the 200 miles. When leaving Winchester the driver of one of the large passenger cars broke a rear axle. He and his passengers were quickly accommodated in other machines, and the party proceeded without interruption. After a midday dinner at Winchester yesterday the boosters proceeded to Berryville, Blumont, Round Hill, Purcellville, and Leesburg. In the latter town they stopped for supper, and a brief address by Congressman-elect James McClintic of Oklahoma, who accompanied the merchants. Mr. McClintic praised the spirit which Washington merchants are evincing in their battle for trade, and assured Washingtonians generally of his support in their efforts to obtain legislation designed to benefit the residents.

Welcomed by Citizens.
In each town the homefolk put forth special efforts to make the visitors welcome, and in return received the thousands of souvenirs which were taken along to advertise Washington generally and the fall trade week which begins September 27 more especially.

Chairman Ross F. Andrews and Secretary Charles J. Columbus were congratulated upon the systematic manner in which the trip was conducted and the regard evinced for the comfort of all who made it. Jacob G. Moody, leader of the band, and his men were also voted thanks for their untiring efforts to arouse enthusiasm through their concerts.

On the beautiful Maryland roads the automobilists found an opportunity to test their cars. While not designated as the official pilot car, the seven-passenger Packard owned by Frank Killian was the first into Rockville Monday and drew up at Chain Bridge last night still in the van of the procession.
